YOUNG LADY IS

ACCIDENT VICTIM

A serious accident occurred at a point near the Sentinel railway crossing on Friday night last, costing the life of a young lady resident of Blairmore, and serious head injury to Steve Brbrosky, of Frank.

In company with two other parties, they left Frank about ten o'clock for Crows' Nest or Michel. Approaching the small bridge over the Crows' Nest river, the car failed to make the curve and crashed into the railing of the right hand side. The upper rail crashed through the windshield and out through the rear window of the car, hitting Miss Lena LaPera Cudmore and Mr. Brbrosky, both on that side of the car, killing the former outright and leaving the latter badly battered and unconscious.

Immediately, Koska proceeded towards Crows' Nest, for help, following the highway in the hope of meeting some other car. At Crows' Nest station he was taken into custody by the police and held waiting developments. The second girl passenger, sister of the victim, stayed by the car till assistance arrived. Police were notified and were soon on the scene. The dead body of Miss Cudmore was removed to the Crownsnest Undertaking parlor at Blairmore, while Brbrosky was admitted to the Coleman hospital.

An inquest was ordered, and after several adjournments, the jury yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death.

The remains of Miss Cudmore were laid to rest in the Protestant cemetery here yesterday at noon. Rev. John Wood, of Hillcrest, officiating. Her parents, sister and brother attended.

Koska, driver of the ill-fated car, is facing a charge of driving at an excessive rate of speed, and will stand trial Tuesday next.

Latest reports state that Brbrosky has a fair chance of recovery.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE

A boy in Surrey and two boys in Kamloops lost their lives within the last three weeks while riding two to a bike. The bikes collided with other vehicles.

While bicycles are not the only vehicle of transportation which collide on the highways, the practice of two boys riding on one bicycle is becoming all too common and adds another risk to the far too many already existing.

Control of a bicycle carrying twice its normal load, incidentally mainly carried on the front wheel, is difficult, while the boy endeavoring to propel and control the machine is further handicapped through having his view of the roadway practically obscured. It is very dangerous to the owner of a bike to provide a vehicle and power for a friend, but under today's traffic conditions, he is taking grave chances with his own life and that of the friend. It is a practice that should not be encouraged.—Chilliwack Progress.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell at Coleman on Saturday, November 1st. "Brick" is quite elated over his "success," as he calls it.

The annual meeting of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association was held in Calgary on Sunday last, about one hundred delegates from all parts of the province being in attendance. Election of officers resulted in the following: Dr. V. C. W. Stanley, High River, re-elected president; Clarence S. Campbell, Edmonton, re-elected vice-president; L. L. Morgan, Blairmore; Verne Parish, Medicine Hat; Dr. W. G. Hardy, University of Alberta, Edmonton; J. W. Moss, Vegreville; D. P. McDonald and P. D. Egan, Calgary, executive; J. T. North, Calgary, registrar-treasurer.

REMEMBRANCE DAY OBSERVED

The Orpheum theatre was filled to overflowing for the annual Remembrance Day service on Monday morning. Promptly at 10:45, the service opened with the singing of "O Canada," and invocation by Mr. W. Dutton. The hymn "O God—Our Help in Ages Past" was sung, followed by the audience standing in silence for two minutes for "Our Honored Dead." Memorial prayer by Mr. Dutton was followed by addresses by Messrs. J. E. Gillis, B.A., and Capt. J. H. Farmer, The Roll Call, and the "Last Post," ably sounded by Trumpeter A. Foster. The service closed with the singing of the National Anthem. T. S. Beynon acted as accompanist, with Capt. J. Angus MacDonald as chairman. Thanks are offered Mr. Rinaldi for the free use of his theatre for the service. Members of the Girl Guides attended, in charge of Mrs. H. Finney. Following the service, quite a number went to Frank to take part in the open-air service at the cemetery, while others proceeded to the Blairmore cemeteries, where graves were decorated.

PINCHER CREEK TO HOUSE CROWS' NEST BONSPIEL

At a recent meeting of the Pincher Creek Curling Club, officers for the coming year were elected as follows: R. O. Allison, president; H. C. Purkis, vice-president; H. C. Moser, secretary; S. A. Fraser, R. Y. Laidlaw, A. B. McMurdo, executive; with F. W. Barber, ice over-seer, and Leonard Ball, ice maker. An addition to the ice sheets is to be made to accommodate the Crows' Nest Bonspiel, to be held in Pincher Creek during the season.

CRANBROOK COURIER

COMMENTS ON P.A.S.S.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Signal credit is due that splendid aggregation of music lovers down in the Crows' Nest Pass, who have just put over their eleventh annual musical festival.

We are told the festival idea was inaugurated there in 1924 through the direct instrumentality of Rev. W. T. Young, pastor at the time of the United church in Blairmore. Year after year since then festivals have been held and improved upon.

In a way, those people down in the Pass have been a little more conservative than have those connected with the festival movement here in Cranbrook and this end of the district. For one thing, they have been content to choose their adjudicators from their own country, and mostly from the neighboring provinces of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia. In this way they saved several hundred dollars on each festival, and undoubtedly obtained just as satisfactory results as though they had imported an adjudicator from the Old Country. Down at the Blairmore festival this year, we were most favorably impressed with the work of Mr. Cyril Hampshire, a rather young but keen and alert adjudicator from Regina. To our way of thinking, he handled the situation fully as ably as any of the Old Country adjudicators we have had at the Cranbrook festivals. At the last Cranbrook festival, the adjudicator, so we are reliably informed, was paid $100 a day for his three days work, and received a share of his travelling expenses besides. This might be all right for cities like Vancouver and Victoria, but it is certainly too expensive a luxury for the small communities.—Cranbrook Courier.

Aberhart was accorded a seat in the Alberta house through acclamation in the Okotoks-High River riding. Hon. C. C. Ross, minister of lands and mines, was also given permission to sit, being acclaimed member for Athabasca.

LOCAL UNITED CHURCH

Those who on previous occasions have had the opportunity of hearing Rev. Dr. J. Williams Ogden, of Vancouver, are looking forward to the special services to be conducted by him at the local church, commencing Sunday evening and continuing until Thursday evening, when he will deliver his popular illustrated lecture on "Pompeii."

Dr. Ogden was billed to appear here last April, but was obliged to cancel the engagement through illness.

FORMER BLAIRMORE GIRL DIES AT CLOVERDALE

Mrs. Christine Harland, wife of James Harland, Clover Valley Road, Surrey, B.C., died on Saturday, November 9th, following but three weeks illness.

Mrs. Harland was born in Scotland, thirty years ago, and had been a resident of Surrey for five years. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Marguerite Harland, at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLennan, Surrey; and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Lonsbury, of Trail, and Mrs. Lewis Rullens, of Surrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Harland were both former residents of Blairmore, Mr. Harland for a time being engaged in the livery business with Alex. Cameron. Mrs. Harland, then popularly known as Chrissie McLennan, resided here for years with her parents on Ninth Avenue south, and was a pupil of the Blairmore school.

The remains were laid to rest in the Fraser cemetery, near Surrey, on Tuesday, November the 5th.

A man of foreign birth, who had waited 30 years to apply for Canadian citizenship, was told by His Honor Judge A. M. McDonald in District Court at Macleod that he could wait a little longer. If it had taken him all those years to make up his mind to become a Canadian, it would not hurt him to wait a little longer.

"WHERE WILL THE MONEY COME FROM?"

The Lethbridge Herald remarks: "And now it's Premier Aberhart who is asking."

"Standing before a convention at Alberta school teachers' last week, answering their request that a superannuation scheme be put into effect, Mr. Aberhart asked where the money was coming from?"

"It's well time that Premier Aberhart is beginning to ask himself that question. It indicates he is coming down out of the clouds."

"Mr. Aberhart is destined to learn a lot of things he did not know on August 22 about money, about taxes, and about where the money comes from."

Estate Bequeathed By Former Governor-General Of Canada

The late Viscount Byng of Vimy, governor-general of Canada from 1921 to 1926, left an estate worth the gross value of $155,000, it was learned in London.

He bequeathed his field-marshal's baton to his old regiment, the 10th Royal Hussars, which he joined in 1883 and commanded from 1902 to 1904.

To Lady Byng he left $25,000 and the income for life from the residue of the estate, except for certain legacies to his servants.

New Map Of Canada

Published By Department Of Interior

The Topographical and Air Survey Bureau, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, has just issued a new map of Canada on the scale of 100 miles to one inch which will be found of interest to all those persons who have use for a small scale map of the Dominion.

The best map of Canada printed by the Department of the Interior is published on the scale of 35 miles to one inch in four separate sheets which, when joined together, cover a space about 4 1/2 feet by 8 1/2 feet, making an excellent wall map for one has such a space available. There is another map of intermediate size on the scale of 60 miles to one inch which is very convenient for desk use or as a smaller wall map.

The new map has been produced to meet the demand for a smaller map of handy size, useful for general reference purposes. It is 25 inches by 36 inches and fits into any large size drawer or a small space on the wall. This map shows all of Canada south of latitude 75, thus including all but some of the northern islands. All the larger physical features, such as lakes, rivers, bays, and islands, are depicted in correct position. The boundaries of the provinces and districts are outlined. All cities and towns are shown and all the railways are drawn in, but without the intermediate stations. The map is printed on the same latitude and longitude lines as drawn from them it may be seen that southern Ontario lies to the north of the same latitude as Boston, while the southernmost tip of the Ontario peninsula is as far south as the northern end of the state of California.

According to the latest figures, the land and fresh water area of Canada, according to provinces and territories, is given in the following table:

	Square Miles
Prince Edward Island	2,184
Nova Scotia	21,068
New Brunswick	27,985
Quebec	594,534
Ontario	412,582
Manitoba	246,512
Saskatchewan	254,900
Alberta	255,285
British Columbia	366,255
Yukon	307,076
Northwest Territories	1,309,682
Total	5,694,863

Lake Superior is the largest lake shown on the map. It and Lake Huron, Erie, and Ontario, lie between Canada and the United States. Of the lakes lying wholly within Canadian territory, Great Bear Lake is the largest, with an area of 12,660 square miles. Other large lakes over 1,000 square miles in area include Great Slave Lake, Winnipegosis, Manitoba, Nipigon, Southern Indian, Reindeer, Duwami, La Martre, and Lake of the Woods.

Canada has some great river systems, the Mackenzie being 2,500 miles in length from its mouth to its headwaters, and the St. Lawrence 1,600 miles. Other great rivers over 1,000 miles in length include the Nelson, Saskatchewan, Churchill, Columbia, Peace and Yukon.

Mount Lofty is the highest mountain in Canada, with an altitude of 19,850 feet. In addition to it there are 65 other mountains above 11,000 feet in height.

Copies of this map may be obtained from the Surveyor General, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, for 25 cents per copy. As it is a useful school map, one copy will be supplied free to any school for official use, upon application of the teacher or school board.

Discover Cave Of Mummies

Believed To Be Living About 1,000 Years Ago

In limestone caves of the coastal mountains of New Guinea rows of mummies of men, their chins on their hands, their elbows on their knees, have just been discovered. They are believed to be 1,000 years old. The caves are near the strip of coast administered by the Australian Government. Almost at the time of the discovery a party of explorers stumbled on a valley populated by a hitherto unknown pastoral people who had dwelt there when the mummies were living men. Until the mummies were found there was no evidence that New Guinea tribes preserved their dead.

Debt Adjustment Act

Law Regulating Disposal Of 1935 Saskatchewan Crop
(Hon. T. C. Davis, Attorney-General)

"Let me stress the fact that these exemptions apply only where a seizure is being made under the Warrant of Execution issued under a Judgment obtained through the courts and do not apply in respect of other seizures in connection with which the absolute control of the situation is in the hands of the old law, which, of course, decides each case upon the merits of the case.

"Fourth: In connection with the repositioning of farm implements, it is to be noted that a very material change was made in the Law of Saskatchewan in the year 1933 when it was provided that the right of a person, selling a farm implement, to recover the purchase price thereof was restricted to repositioning of the article sold. This does not apply to implements where the value is less than $100.00, or to binders, but, in connection with every other implement sold, since that law came into effect, the farmer who purchases it cannot be forced to pay for the same, unless the seller is not entitled to the return of the article sold. This naturally puts the seller in a very awkward position under this law, in a different position than one who sold under the law as it was before the year 1933. The seller had the promise of the purchaser to pay for the machine; under this new law no repositioning is an absolute obligation to pay. The seller being limited to the return of the article he sold, naturally, is interested in seeing that the value of his machine is not depreciated through use without any payment for the use of it.

"The Debt Adjustment Act applies to contracts made prior to April 1st, 1933, and no repositioning can be made of a machine purchased prior to that date without notice to the Board.

"Fifth: In conclusion, let me say, the government has been asked to state the general policy of the government in the matter of collection of taxes. In this connection I would say, first of all, that before any person can make a seizure of any kind the person who makes the seizure must be aware of any step at all, give thirty days notice, under the Debt Adjustment Act, of his intention to make a seizure. There are only two exceptions to this, viz., a municipality may seize for taxes without notice and a seizure can be made in urban communities for rent without notice, but in the case of seizures for rent, no sale can take place without the Debt Adjustment Act being consulted.

Furthermore, in the case of municipalities, the Debt Adjustment Board has power to intervene. The government, as a matter of general policy, is highly desirous that business in Saskatchewan get back into ordinary business channels as rapidly as possible and that ordinary business relations between individuals and the province be resumed as soon as possible without interference on the part of the government or of municipalities either by way of furnishing assistance, guaranteeing payments or otherwise, but at a first step towards this objective, the government feels that the people of the province should, as rapidly as possible, get on a self-sustaining basis.

"During the last few years, owing to drought conditions and an absolute failure of production in a large section of the agricultural portion of the province, it has been absolutely impossible for the people therein to maintain themselves, and assistance had to be given to them by both the province and the municipalities which, in turn, were assisted by the government of Canada.

"In many sections of the province, for the first time in many years, the people therein are harvesting a crop this year, and after harvesting expenses are paid from the crop, it is highly desirable in the interests of all concerned that the farmer or producer provide for his seed and feed requirements and for his seedling operations in 1936 and also provide for the maintenance of himself and his family until next harvest, and wherever in Saskatchewan crop conditions are such that the farmer is able to do this from the proceeds of his crop, then the government will expect him to do it, and seeks the co-operation of all classes, creditor and debtor alike, to secure this desirable end.

"Where the farmer has a surplus over and above his own requirements, for the purposes which I have mentioned, then the farmer should to the fullest possible extent improve his own credit by taking care of his obligations in order that by so doing he may at the earliest possible date re-establish his credit and thereby enable him to purchase his own necessities.

"In the meantime, the government will refrain from pressing for payment of debts due by individuals to it for direct relief this year in order to assist in re-establishing the credit of the individual, all towards the objective of getting business back into normal channels again.

"I am sure that municipalities, creditors and every person will be interested in attaining these ends, and I am sure will co-operate with the government to the fullest extent in trying to reach this condition.

"If any difficulty arises which may interfere with the proper repositioning of himself and his family to this extent, then the facilities of the Debt Adjustment Board are available to him to assist him in carrying out this intention.

"As I stated at the beginning, a representative of the Debt Adjustment Board is to be found at the judicial centre in each judicial district in the province and he is there to serve the people of this province and to do so free of charge."

THE RETURN FROM CAPTIVITY

Golden text: The Lord hath done great things for us, whereof we are glad. Psalm 126:3.

Lesson: Jeremiah 29:4-14; Ezra 1:1-11; Psalm 126:1-4.

Devotional reading: Psalm 124.

Explanations And Comments

The Proclamation of Cyrus, Ezra 1:1-4. Cyrus was a Persian by birth. He was at first king only over Babylonia, but after the year 539 B.C. he was king of all the world. Cyrus made a great proclamation. That the word of Jehovah in the mouth of Jeremiah might thus be accomplished, we read, Jehovah stirred up the spirit of Cyrus so that he would turn about and say to the exiled Jews to return to their own country. The prophecy of Jeremiah is found in Jer. 29:10. For thus saith Jehovah, After seventy years are accomplished for Babylon, I will visit you, and perform my good word toward you, saith Jehovah. I will bring you to this place. The word seventy is, of course, to be regarded as a round number.

By heralds and by written official documents Cyrus sent his proclamation throughout all his kingdom, as well as the Jews who would remain to aid the returning Jews by giving them silver and gold, goods and beasts, besides the freewill offering for the temple.

Joy over the Return to Jerusalem, Psalm 126:1-3. The first effect of the return was of dazed bewilderment. The Psalmist says: It seemed incredible, too good to be true, and but a dream. Polybius and Livy use similar language to describe the joy and astonishment of the Greeks when, after the conquest of Macedonia by Flaminus in B.C. 196, the freedom of Greece was proclaimed at the Isthmian games. A. F. Kirkpatrick recalls: "None could believe," wrote Livy, "that the had really heard aright; men looked at one another in astonishment as if it were the empty illusion of a dream; distrustful of the testimony of their own ears, each began to question his neighbor."

Such is the stupefying effect which sudden joy or sudden sorrow often produces. When the moment of full realization came to the returning exiles, they broke out into songs and laughter, their joy was full.

Said the nations round about, "Jehovah hath done great things for them," and the Psalmist says that the people realized that this was true, and joyously re-echoed the words as they sang. Jehovah had indeed done great things for them.

Freedom of Thought

Thanks University Professors Should Enjoy Latitude In Their Work
Defence of freedom of thought and expression by university professors was voiced by Sir Robert Falconer, former president of the University of Toronto, in addressing a University of Manitoba gathering in Winnipeg.

Sir Robert drew attention to the curbing of freedom of learning in universities under the Fascist and Nazi regimes. A tendency in this direction was noticeable in Anglo-Saxon countries because many suspected universities of being lounging places for restless professors harboring subversive thoughts.

Simply because a professor did not think like the majority of men on a certain question was no reason why his opinion should be stifled, said Sir Robert. He said many professors were "far too radical for me" but he was eager that they continue to enjoy freedom in their work.

Many Are Seeking To Obtain Citizenship Papers In Alberta

Premier Aberhart's Social Credit scheme was assigned by government officials as the reason for a deluge of applications from Alberta for naturalization. Desirous of taking every precaution to become eligible for the promised $25 per month, applications seeking Canadian citizenship in the last three months total two and one-half times more than those for the corresponding period in 1934.

Indicative of the increases, applications from several major districts in the province for August, September and October, with figures for the similar period last year in brackets, total: Edmonton, 466 (152); Camrose, 70 (33); and Calgary, 154 (62).

Excused From Jury Duty

Shopman Had Good Reason For Not Wanting To Serve

A Union Pacific shopman had been drawn on a federal grand jury, and didn't want to serve. When his name was called, he asked Judge Pollock in Topeka, Kansas, says the Capital, to excuse him. "We are very busy at the shops," said he, "and I ought to be there."

"So you are one of those men who think the Union Pacific couldn't get along without you," remarked the judge.

"No, your honor," said the shopman. "I know it could get along without me, but I don't want it to find out."

"Excused," said the judge.

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches, or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach, or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

SYNOPSIS
Nancy Nelson is a mis-oh, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market place, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is in the market place, the reality of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an accountancy firm in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. Nancy set out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and miss the path Aurora comes along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she asks him to take her to the top of the hill, look around, and then go on to Cousin Columbine's. There Mark Adam tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken his leg, and that Jack Nelson has been hired to help out while Luke's leg gets better. With Jack away, Nancy finds that she is lonesome, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems a good one, and Nancy writes home to get her parents to send all the books they could spare and all they could induce others to let them have.

Nancy's parents and friends gave their liberal support for her request for books, and a sizeable box arrived in due course. Father Adam painted a sign for the library, and the Adams boys worked on the shelves for the books and decorations to make the room look presentable.

Jack Nelson, Matthew Adams, and Nancy go to the prairie home of Matthew's uncle for the ride, and after Nancy and Jack leave for home, they are caught in a blizzard. Blinded by the swirling snow they collide with a bus full of school children, which was stalled across the road with its back wheels resting in a snow-filled gully. Their car being wrecked, Jack and Nancy stay with the children and do all they can to help. The next morning Jack sets out for help in the blizzard. He succeeds in finding help, and the safety of children and Nancy are rescued. As a result of the exposure Nancy's feet are badly frozen and Jack is seriously ill with pneumonia, but both of them recover.

New Go On With The Story

"It's fortunate they're so much taller than the fence," said Jack. "I suppose they were intended to be imposing; but we can lower them a foot without hurting the appearance of—" (he glanced about to be sure that Cousin Columbine was nowhere near), "of this magnificent property! Fail to, sis, and get busy with that shovel."

"The old obeyed, rather enjoying the novelty of the work for a little while; but at last she paused, complaining: 'I've struck a rock, Jack!'"

"In this place? More likely it's a bone some dog has buried."

Nancy laughed.

"It was an energetic dog then, or a prehistoric one! My post broke off lower down than yours, Jack, and I've gone a good bit deeper. Perhaps there's enough of a hole here now; but I want to see what this thing is," she lifted the spade, digging for a moment viciously. "It certainly feels like a rock, but—"

Nancy ceased abruptly, and dropping flat onto the ground, reached into the new-made hole while her brother watched, a smile of amusement lighting his eyes.

"For the land's sake what are you doing flat on your stomach in all that dirt?" cried out Aurora, who had drawn near to superintend the work.

"Hunting for buried treasure," Jack answered, grinning. "Pieces of eight, you know. She thinks she's found one."

"I have!" cried Nancy, scrambling up in great excitement. "Give me that crowbar, Jack. I have!"

"What's all this commotion?" demanded Cousin Columbine, who, hearing Nancy's elated voice, had hurried out. "Mercy, child! have you been digging that hole with your two hands?"

Nancy laughed, and answered: "I'll all come out in the wash, Cousin Columbine! You see, I've uncovered something down there—something that's evidently been buried for ages. I thought at first it was a rock; but it has sharp corners like a nut and has a hole in it. Did you people ever hide any valuables that way in time of Indian raids?"

The old lady shook her head, and pointing into the hole, replied: "Not that I know of. Fry the thing out with your crowbar, Jack, but go gently. It's your sister's property, you know."

"Yes," said Nancy, "find it's the key; but if it turns out to be a human skull don't let me see it. I never could abide the sight of bones, Jack Nelson. Even a good fresh soup bone goes against me."

No one paid any attention to this warning, for Jack cried out: "Great Scott! It is a box of some sort! Hold on there, Nancy, I'll—"

But his sister was already on the ground, reaching far down to where her discovery lay. In fact, one and all were—like their knees beside her when she drew it forth; a small iron box, almost disintegrated by rust and time.

"Is it locked?" questioned Aurora, too utterly amazed to speak with her accustomed shrillness.

Nancy shook it cautiously, then with small difficulty raised the cover, disclosing what proved to be a Maltese cross of solid brass suspended from a crucifix carved from some dark stone. As she lifted the relic from its long hiding place, holding it aloft for all to see, a sense of awe held them silent for a moment; then the girl exclaimed in sudden inspiration: "Those Spanish priests could—could one of them have lost it, Cousin Columbine?"

The old lady reached out, touching the crucifix with reverent fingers.

"Why not? It may have lain here more than a century. Or perhaps it was captured by some Indian, buried for safety and then forgotten. If we find an inscription—even a date, Nancy, it will shed some light on this strange mystery. Carry box and all into the house and we'll examine them."

In this absorbing interest the gate posts were forgotten for an hour, but no clue as to the origin of the sacred relic was discovered; and though Jack dug deeper in the hope that other treasures were buried nearby, his efforts were fruitless. "What stone is the crucifix carved in?" questioned Nancy, when the gate posts properly erect at last, the subject was resumed at the dinner table.

"Chalcedony, I think," said Cousin Columbine. "And did you notice the hammer marks on the sides of the Maltese cross? Hand work, and very, very ancient, if I'm any judge. These things are of real historical value. Nancy. They should be in some museum; but surely you have the right to keep them for the present. In my own mind there's not a doubt that they came from one of the Spanish expeditions. Dear me! what a story we shall have to tell the Adams! Did Mark say what time they would send down for us?"

"Not before five. I have some things to do at the library this afternoon; and I must finish packing so that to-morrow will be free. It gives me a terrible feeling, Cousin Columbine, to think of your folks going to leave you."

"And I bet it gives Miss Columbine a worse one," declared Aurora as she thumped an apple pie down on the table. "Fine Ridge won't never be the same again. If you ask me—not that it won't be nice before you came, with the Aladdin Library and everything. You've had an awful good influence on Juanita, Nancy Nelson, even if you have got her so used to her dress and her nervous like on a young girl, or an old one either for that matter. But she's took your advice about going to business college come fall, and I'll stay with her Aunt Emma down to Colorado City while she learns about it. I hope she don't marry some good-for-nothing feller afterward. No use wastin' money on an education if you're to spend your life over a wash tub."

That afternoon when all but the last-minute packing was accomplished, Nancy slipped into the white sport silk she was to wear at the Adams', and sought the library. It was not "Library Day," but she wanted to finish numbering a second box of books from the Oklahoma family, as well as to write instructions for Mary Taylor; and not wishing to be interrupted, she closed the door. Nancy worked slowly, pausing every now and then to look about with a pleasurable sense of accomplishment, the little library always gave her; wondering why, when these months in Pine Ridge had gone so well and she was eager to see the family, this horrid homesickness kept creeping over her.

"It must be because Edgemore's so far away," she mused, "and Cousin Columbine hates so to have us go. And there are the Adams! It would be queer..." Nancy closed her eyes as if to call up some picture, and her color rose as she said impatiently: "Why don't you face the truth, Nancy Nelson? You just can't bear to leave because..."

The door opened, and she started for a moment.

Town Preserved in Peat

Mass Protects Settlement Covering One Acre For 2,500 Years

A moorland settlement of the Slavonic tribe of Old Prussians, dating back at least 2,500 years, has been discovered by an archaeological expedition from the University of Poznan.

The discovery was made on a peninsula on Lake Bialupianka, near the small town of Znin. The entire settlement covered an area of about one acre. It consists of 15 wooden huts and seven streets, enclosed in a high wall and a palisade.

Owing to the settlement being buried in peat moss, everything was in an excellent state of preservation. Many objects of daily use, such as cooking utensils, tools and a crude wheel, were found in perfect condition.

Other settlements and tombs, probably dating back 3,000 years, have been found in the Baltic provinces, near Rostock. The Old Prussians, of whom these relics were the descendants of the present-day Prussians.

Paralysis Is Contagious

Recovery From The Disease Is Believed To Produce Immunity

Sixty per cent of Edmonton residents are immune to infantile paralysis, according to the best medical opinion on a dread disease, knowledge of which is still in the transitional stage, it is declared by Dr. R. B. Jenkins, medical health officer.

While some have said that infantile paralysis is not contagious, Dr. Jenkins said, the findings of all recognized authorities make this assertion "sheer nonsense." It has been proven by authorities, he said, that the disease can be spread in food and drink and by human carriers and insects.

In laboratory experiments the disease was spread from monkey to monkey by a stable fly. The virus remained active on house flies for 48 hours.

Knowledge of infantile paralysis is rapidly improving and years ago there were undoubtedly many mild cases not recognized. Even today persons said to be carriers might actually be mild cases. Recovery from the disease is believed to produce immunity. No recurring cases are known.

Moscow Professor Announces New Theory In Connection With Lung Troubles

Dr. V. Drobokho of Kiev Microbiological Institute, Moscow, announced the discovery of a new bacillus which he said may give an entirely different explanation of certain lung alterations thought in the past to be due to pulmonary consumption.

He has named the bacillus "diphtheroid," because it resembles the diphtheria bacillus, although it does not produce diphtheria.

The "diphtheroid" is now being studied by the institute to determine whether it is responsible for lung alterations.

Carbon Dioxide Storage Good For Both Bacon And Eggs

Twice as many vitamins are contained in apples with rosy skins as in those with green skins.

This is one of the discoveries the food investigation board has made. Another is that the concentration of vitamin C is six times as great in apple peel as in the core.

The board's report for the year also states that some fruits and vegetables wrapped in iodized paper remain free from mould for much longer periods than those wrapped in plain paper. Some varieties of plums and peaches, however, are adversely affected by this treatment and fail to ripen properly.

It has been discovered that the degree of alkalinity of the white of eggs, which rises with age, can be kept down to that found in fresh eggs by storage in air enriched with carbon dioxide.

Carbon dioxide storage will also add many weeks to the life of bacon, it is stated.

Cigarettes In Canada

Every time a cigarette is carelessly tossed aside there is a danger of fire. A mathematician will tell you that if all the cigarettes smoked in Canada last year were placed tightly end to end they would encircle the earth at the equator nearly eight times. This is purely academic interest but the fire hazard of 197,000 miles of cigarettes is of very real interest to Mr. and Mrs. Canadian Citizens because it hits where it hurts—right in the pocket.

Famous War Commander

German "Sea Devil" Says He Never Took A Life During All His Raids

Count Felix von Luckner, whose exploits as commander of the German raider Seeadler earned him the title of "Sea Devil," visited England recently with Countess von Luckner, during his stay in London, the count met British naval officers, including Sir Reginald Hall, who, as chief of the British naval intelligence department during the war years, endeavored to capture the "Sea Devil" while he was raiding British shipping.

Count von Luckner, asked how he managed to evade capture for so long during the war, said: "You see, I was sailing in British, Scandinavian and every other kind of ship. I know what a reputation the British have for chivalry, so I had my 16-year-old boy on board a Norwegian ship dressed as my wife. Then I had a gramophone playing 'Tipperary.' It was really good fun. But never during my raids did I take a single human life."

The count began his adventures early, for he ran away to Australia when he was 13. There he joined the Salvation Army. In 1903, when he was 19, England, he was working as an ordinary sailor on a boat which took cargo of clay to Plymouth; 15 years later he became notorious in England, for between the spring and autumn of 1917 he sank ships worth $400,000. He captured 17 ships within a few weeks and sank them, but made sure that the crews were safe first.

"You see," he explained, "I have always regarded myself as a citizen of the sea, and when I have come across an enemy ship, then I am a pirate, too, were citizens of the sea."

"Lion Dogs" To Hunt Lions

Hunter And Pack Have Already Accounted For 300

Successful lion hunting, if you believe Giles Goswick, depends on having good "hounds."

Goswick's opinion on anything connected with mountain lions is regarded as gospel in Arizona. For ten years, Goswick has made his living by killing mountain lions, first as a U.S. biological survey hunter and now as a state-employed predatory game hunter charged with ridding this section of the state of the fierce killers which destroy tens of thousands of dollars worth of livestock each year.

Goswick's pack of "lion dogs" are descended from a hound brought to Arizona 35 years ago by his father. Through successive generations of training, they have lion hunting bred into them.

According to the hunter, he and his pack have killed or captured 300 mountain lions, including a nine-foot male which was believed to be the largest ever killed in the southwest. This particular lion, he said, was trailed for three days by the dogs before they frightened it into a tree.

SOCIAL CREDITOR

SUGGESTS RECALL

J. P. McCaffrey, Calgary lawyer, who took an active part in support of the Social Credit provincial campaign and later contested Humboldt, Sask., in the federal election, discussed the Alberta situation at a Social Credit meeting on Friday night. He is reported to have said "If the men at the head of our movement now can't make a success of it, we have men who can." He argued early introduction of the promised recall legislation, for there were those now in office who would have to be recalled. "We have men in our party who we must chastise ere long," he said. "There are too many homes being taken away from the people of Alberta."

He was strongly opposed to the decision of the Alberta government to ban liquor advertisements. "Why should we take $75,000 away from the newspapers of Alberta?" he asked. "We should let this outside money come into the province."

The Duke of Gloucester and his bride were somewhat disappointed at not receiving a "cablegram" of congratulations from the mayor and council of Blairmore.

LIBERTY'S CANADIAN HALL OF FAME No. 11

Because the Muse was not amused and Charles Saunders could not earn a living at music following his graduation from Johns Hopkins and Toronto University, Canada became pre-eminent among nations as a wheat-growing country.

Son of a London druggist who came to Canada at the behest of Sir John Carling, Sir Charles, working in his father's experimental farm, explored the idiosyncrasies of wheat from all parts of the world until he produced the now famous Marquis wheat.

Resulting from his scientific work was the accomplishment of growing in a single year in Canada, 500,000,000 bushels of the finest, hardy, good milling wheat.

At his door must be placed the credit for extending Canada's wheat growing land 300 miles north toward the never-never land. At his door goes the credit for producing wheat that is now the standard for the whole world. He made thousands of crosses to do it, to develop an early maturing wheat that would mean bigger profits to the farmers.

But no profit seeker is he. No money did he make directly from his important findings. It is just as well, he thinks. His efforts have been appreciated to the extent of a $5,000 a year pension and he has a chance to enjoy his first love—music.

He has the Medal of the French Academy and the Medal of the Royal Society among his treasured possessions. He has collected insects, gardeners, sketched, worked in leather and knows, not inexpertly, how to knit and crochet.

At his advanced age he regrets vainly, that he could not have done more.

Jackie O.—"When I'm next to a beautiful girl, I don't bother about statistics."

The action of a local household got home from boys' camp a few weeks ago with the announcement that he had won a prize at the last minute for packing his suitcase the neatest and quickest. Nothing could have astonished his parents more. His mother sceptically investigated at once. The bag was exactly as she had packed it when her son went away—hadn't been touched.

LIBERTY'S CANADIAN HALL OF FAME No. 16

Canon Frederick George Scott, seventy-four, of Quebec City is also a full fledged Colonel of the Canadian Army. The two distinctions combine to make him Canada's most noted clerical patriot. The son of a McGill professor, Canon Scott lived an obscure life until 1911 when he ventured into politics and the famed Reciprocity.

Canada picked up its ears and began to notice the man who had been a Church of England priest since 1888 and a poet before that. Three years later the war broke out and the "Padre Poet" became a militant nationalist. He had already established for himself the character of a vigorous Imperialist.

The father of four sons and a daughter, Rev. Scott joined the colors and peripatetic around the front line trenches, administering to the wounded and taking time out to issue in 1917 a letter to the Canadian Press saying "To Shirkers at home nothing but lies are due."

In all his ministrations, to the wounded he never made the mistake of giving a drink of water to a man with a stomach injury. That is why soldiers never minded having him around. Wounded himself by a score of shrapnel splinters, he convalesced to his own tastes and earned the title "Singer of the Laureates."

Front line soldiers knew him intimately and suffered almost as much as he when his son was killed in action. He is the subject of numerous stories and the author of some himself but his forte is poetry and he has since declared that the courageous action of the men, the feats of gallantry, and the bravery offered enough material to keep him busy a lifetime.

He was the most beloved man in the army and still he hands went up in a majestic and reverent salute when this tall, white haired man led his corps in the path of silence at the historic parade in Toronto last August.

IF PRINTERS WOULD LISTEN

The printer gets plenty of advice, admonition, suggestions and criticisms. If he listens to the cost expert, he knows the cost in money of each revolution of the press and the value of each tick of the clock.

If he listens to the customer, he will do the highest quality of work, give the most service, and charge a price slightly below the cost of production.

If he listens to the secretary of the association, he will attend every meeting, keep awake, and also pay his dues in advance.

If he listens to the supply men, he will discount all his bills and hustle to sell more ink and paper.

If he listens to the lunch meeting speaker, he will make two jobs of printing grow where none grew before and become a creative salesman.

If he listens to the trade composition men, he will farm out the composition, presswork and binding, and merely use his plant to assemble the job.

If he listens to the purchasing agent, he knows he is a highbinder and burglar and that any printer will do the job for less.

If he listens to the hurry-up buyer, he will get the order at eleven and have proofs at two.

If he listens to the unions, he will run the plant on Tuesday and Friday afternoons.

If he listens to the machinery men, he will have the biggest plant in town.

If he listens to the type experts, he will have two new type faces each week.

If he listens to the trade journals, he will be absolutely perfect.

But, thank the good Lord, he doesn't listen!—Pacific Printer and Publisher.

So far as the average man can see, the banning of liquor advertisements from the press will have this effect: The seventy-five thousand dollars spent annually in this manner within the province will remain in the pockets of the brewers and distillers, thus adding to the great wealth they already possess, while the proprietors of country newspapers, who are frequently up against it, will be rendered all the poorer. HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

The funeral of Alexander Porteous Douglas, who died on Sunday in the Hillcrest hospital, following an accident in the Hillcrest mine, was held Wednesday afternoon, and despite the cold weather, was attended by a large crowd of friends and fellow workers. Following a service conducted by Rev. Dr. Ogden at the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas, the remains were laid to rest in the Masonic plot, Hillcrest cemetery, committal service being given by Rev. John Wood. The members of Sentinel Lodge, of which the deceased was a member, performed their solemn last rite at the graveside. TRADE TREATY PROSPECTS WITH UNITED STATES

Washington.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told a score of Washington correspondents who visited him at the Canadian legation no good purpose could be served by public comment from him on the question of trade and other diplomatic questions outstanding between the United States and Canada.

In life determination not to be drawn into official statements to the press during the course of his vacation trip in the United States, Mr. King is no more efficient than Washington state officials. But it is known the three Canadian experts who have been here for some days have been in constant negotiation with state department officials and indications are some definite success to increase trade between the two countries is approaching completion.

The belief current here was that a treaty of somewhat narrow dimensions would be effected temporarily, dealing particularly with certain Canadian lumber products, fish, cattle and some minerals and some wholly or partly manufactured United States commodities.

A more inclusive trade agreement would await the result of next November's United States elections and the time when the new Dominion government, more or less pledged to a large measure of free trade, would have completed its reorganization of the Canadian customs tariff.

Mr. King took quarters at the Canadian legation, told correspondents he was on a holiday "to get away from the noise and turmoil of politics." His visit here was "purely social," Mr. King said.

"After the strenuous business of conducting an election campaign and forming a government," Mr. King said, "I needed a holiday. I would have gone to the Old Country but for the fact that they are in the midst of a general election there. And I have had enough of elections for a while."

Farm Debt Legislation

Constitutionality To Be Tested Before Supreme Court

Ottawa.—Supreme court of Canada will be asked to test constitutionality of the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, it was announced by Minister of Justice Lapointe. It will be examined by the court in the same general reference as the reform bill and price spread legislation.

The arrangement act enabled debt-ridden farmers to come to equitable terms with their creditors. Mortgages have been reduced, interest charges lessened so farmers could shoulder the financial burden.

The court reference followed several attacks on the legislation made in the courts. One was made in Hamilton, Ont., involving direct attacks on constitutionality. The British Columbia government threatened to attack the act in the courts some months ago but the Dominion took power to withdraw it from that province.

Legion Grand Patron

Lord Tweedsmuir Has Consented To Take This Office

Ottawa.—Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada, has consented to become Dominion grand patron of the Canadian Legion, J. R. Bowler, general secretary of that organization, announced here.

Awaiting Lord Tweedsmuir on his arrival in Ottawa was an invitation from General Ross asking His Excellency to succeed the Earl of Bessborough as grand patron.

The insignia of office will be presented to the governor-general at a later date, said Mr. Bowler.

Soviet Buys Japanese Goods

Moscow.—Pravda, the official Communist party newspaper, announced the Soviet Union has placed orders in Japan for goods worth 62,000,000 yen, in conformity with the terms of the contract for the sale of the Chinese Eastern railway. Japan has already delivered goods to the value of 10,000,000 yen, the paper said. (The yen is currently quoted at 28.71 cents).

Hardy Gophers

Calgary.—May be its going to be a mild winter in southern Alberta. Country residents report gophers, which usually hibernate for the winter, still frisking about in deep snow, robin chirping merrily in the trees and ducks swimming in open water on the rivers.

May Reduce Forces

Some Warships In Mediterranean Likely To Be Withdrawn

London.—Progress toward a joint reduction of British and Italian forces in the Mediterranean was believed by informed sources to be under way. British defence council ministers met at No. 10 Downing street after Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador to Italy, conferred with Premier Mussolini at Rome.

Sources close to the government did not deny the ministers considered a reduction of the reinforced British fleet in the Mediterranean to help ease the Anglo-Italian tension.

In Paris it was stated the British are expected to take some of their warships out of the Mediterranean in exchange for further withdrawals of Italian troops from Libya, but that so announcement of this settlement is expected until after the British elections Nov. 14.

A stop to the anti-British campaign in Italy would be one condition of the settlement, it was said.

Said one usually trustworthy source: "It is only a question of waiting until after the British elections."

An authoritative source indicated it was admitted disappointment that his earlier gesture in withdrawing one division of troops from Libya had not resulted in some reduction in the neighboring British fleet.

Famed Evangelist

Billy Sunday, Of Baseball Fame, Dies In Chicago

Chicago.—"Billy" Sunday, the internationally famous evangelist who caused thousands to "hit the sidewalk trail" to his pulpit and renounce the devil and rum, died suddenly of angina pectoris.

Sunday, who quit major league baseball at the height of his career to become the leading evangelist of the United States, had been an invalid for some time. He was visiting at the home of a brother-in-law here when he told his wife, "Mother, I feel dizzy." A doctor called, finding a 72-year-old preacher only temporary relief.

The disease first seized him three years ago and had curtailed his preaching since.

He had been a compelling figure on North American revival rostrums since 1896—thundering voice, tangy phraseology, vehement in gesture.

Sunday, born in Ames, Iowa, November 19, 1865, finished high school in Nevada, Iowa, before continuing his education at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.

His first career was in professional baseball. He played with teams representing Chicago, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia in the National League between 1883 and 1890.

Expresses Regret

Baron Tweedsmuir Writes To Farmer Whose Horses Were Killed

Ottawa.—Baron Tweedsmuir directed a secretary to write a letter of regret to a Pendleton, Ont., farmer whose two horses were killed by the vic-regal train as it sped towards Ottawa.

The farmer, Ovide Boudreau, narrowly escaped being struck by the train himself as he sought vainly to drive the horses from the track onto the vic-regal train as it sped towards Ottawa.

The governor-general knew nothing of the incident until he read it in a newspaper. Pendleton is about 20 miles east of Ottawa.

Cabinet Change

W. F. Kerr, Minister Of Natural Resources In Saskatchewan House

Regina.—W. F. Kerr, Regina member of the legislature, was sworn in as minister of natural resources in the new Patterson government. He takes over the department administered by Premier Patterson. No other change in the cabinet is anticipated, Mr. Patterson said, though he admitted there might be some future changes in regard to administration of branches and bureaus.

Frost Damages Fruit

Nelson, B.C.—Frost damage to apples in the Kootenay district will be higher than believed at first, fruit authorities announced. Early estimates placed the loss at about 10,000 boxes, but it was stated one orchardist alone lost 2,000 boxes, and another 1,000.

Ship Turkeys To New Zealand
Edmonton.—For the second time in the past two years, a shipment of turkey breeding stock is being made by Alberta breeders to New Zealand. A second order is being developed for New York State.

Completes Model Flying Suit

Inventor Claims It Has Proved Efficient In Tests

Bank, Alta.—The dream of a lifetime, a "flying suit," making it possible for man to fly without the aid of present day aeroplanes with their heavy motors, is near realization for John Kropce, a 65-year-old inventor, according to claims he advanced.

Kropce, a native of Yugoslavia, who quit his job in a local hotel to devote his life to the perfection of the flying suit, announced he had completed a model, which in tests here had proved its efficiency. It has yet to be tried out by man. The inventor has completed an aluminum suit with metal wings and a series of springs, operated on the principle of the gramophone, called by its inventor the "metal man."

U. S. POLICY IN DEALING WITH FOREIGN WARS

Washington.—A policy of using "appropriate" influencing to stop foreign wars, while still keeping out of them, was enunciated recently by Secretary of State Hull.

In a broadcast address, intended to explain the United States' neutrality stand in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, Mr. Hull at the same time made a plea for wider discretionary powers for the president in directing foreign affairs in times of international disturbance.

His suggestion was interpreted by some observers as paying the way for an administration request to the next congress for a more far-reaching but less rigid neutrality law than the present act. The existing law expires at the end of February. Congressional efforts already are under way to extend it.

Wide significance was attached here to Hull's words when he said: "Our foreign policy would indeed be a weak one if it began or ended with the announcement of a neutral position on the outbreak of a foreign war."

The secretary's address was read for him by William Phillips, under-secretary of state. Hull himself was away from the city.

"I conceive it to be our duty and in the interest of our country and of humanity," his prepared copy said, "not only to remain aloof from disputes which with which we have no direct concern, but also to use our influence in any appropriate way to bring about the peaceful settlement of international differences."

With these words, Hull appeared in close accord with those who have held that the United States, if unable directly to co-operate with the League of Nations in its efforts to halt the East African war, at least should take all steps possible to limit its non-interference with the league actions.

He specifically recommended more discretion be given the president in determining the time for imposing an embargo. The present Neutrality Act, passed in the closing days of the last congress, automatically places an embargo on shipments of munitions and implements of war to the belligerents as soon as the president proclaims that a state of war exists.

Then, hinting some action might be sought in congress to strengthen the president's hand in stopping dealings with belligerents, he said: "Any discussion of the avoidance of war, or of the observance of neutrality in case of war, would be wholly incomplete if too much stress were laid on the part played in the one or the other by the shipment, or the embargoing of the shipment, of arms, ammunition, and implements of war."

Hepburn To Retire

Ontario Premier Is Suffering From Ill Health

Toronto.—Premier Hepburn announced that he would retire as premier of Ontario after the 1936 session of the legislature. His prospective retirement is brought about by ill-health.

"My two enemies, fatigue and worry, have pursued me relentlessly on this job and have resulted in complications which culminated in my present condition," said Mr. Hepburn, who has been in power for little more than a year and who has only one session of the legislature behind him.

"I didn't intend the announcement to be made just yet but as it is a matter of public interest it might just as well be known now," added the premier. I intend to retire from political life after the next session, solely because of poor health."

Mr. Hepburn is suffering from his fourth attack of bronchitis in four years and his inability to throw the disease off has caused himself and his physicians concern.

Heads Bank

John R. Lamb New President Of Bank Of Toronto

Toronto.—John R. Lamb, who started his career with the Bank of Toronto at the age of 18 and later became superintendent of western branches with headquarters at Winnipeg, has been elected president, succeeding the late W. G. Gooderham, it was announced here. Mr. Gooderham died several days ago.

Harvey B. Henwood, general manager since 1928, becomes vice-president and general manager and Paul J. Myler of Hamilton, a director since 1916, was elected a vice-president. Mr. Myler is president of the Canadian Westinghouse Company Limited.

Pola Negri To Marry

London.—Pola Negri, film actress, declared here that she soon will marry "one of the most prominent men in England." She refused to reveal his name, but said he was a former member of parliament. She added that the wedding would take place Dec. 31. Miss Negri said she would not give up film work entirely. She expects to make one picture a year.

Suggests Traffic School

Toronto.—T. D. LeMay, city planning commissioner, reported to the board of control that economic loss to Toronto through death and injury resulting from motor accidents last year was $8,500,000. He recommended a traffic school be set up for all pupils more than 15 years of age.

Increased Business

Saskatchewan Pool Elevators Show Large Amount Of Grain Handled

Regina.—With deliveries through its country elevator system in 1934-35 amounting to 44.59 per cent. of total grain marketings through all country elevators of the province, Saskatchewan Pool Elevators Limited showed for the third year in succession a slight gain in its proportion of grain handlings. This information was submitted to delegates of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool at their eleventh annual meeting here.

This figure of 44.59 per cent. compares with 43.2 per cent. of all country elevator deliveries in 1933-34. The co-operative organization owns approximately one-third of the country elevator capacity in Saskatchewan.

The volume of grains handled, however, was over one million bushels down from that of the previous season, a fact accounted for by an even smaller crop than in 1933.

Trans-Atlantic Service

Mollison In New York To Arrange For Planes

New York.—James Mollison, trans-Atlantic flyer, arrived here to buy three planes which he plans to use in starting a freight service between Ireland and Newfoundland next April.

The noted British airman said the planes would make semi-weekly trips across the Atlantic carrying news, films, foreign fashion models and other freight. Mollison will fly one of the planes, his wife, the former Amy Johnson, one, and a pilot not yet named will fly the other.

ROYAL WEDDING OCCASIONS GREAT JOY IN LONDON

London.—London took the Duke of Gloucester's lovely Scottish bride to its heart when thousands offered Lady Alice Scott a tumultuous welcome on the drive to Buckingham palace from her home in Grovenor place. Looking radiantly happy she smiled and waved repeatedly. Beside her was her brother, the Duke of Buccleuch, who gave her away.

Following the wedding ceremony the scene before the palace was reminiscent of war years. The king and queen, the duke and his bride, the prince royal and other royalties appeared on the balcony evoking a hurricane of enthusiasm. The big gates of the palace were fairly stormed, the crowds breaking police lines and even disturbing the guardsmen and sentinels within the quadrangle.

Another outbreak of cheering occurred when the bride and groom, escorted by household cavalry, drove to St. Pancras station on the honeymoon journey to Broughton House, Northamptonshire, the seat of the bride's family. Rain had fallen earlier, but the duke and duchess drove in an open carriage.

Members of the royal family, the bride's family and the bridesmaids followed the couple with rose petals as they drove slowly through the palace forecourt. Princess Elizabeth, both hands filled with rose petals, rushed to the side of the carriage and threw them over her uncle and new aunt.

The king and queen, the Prince of Wales and the dukes of York and Kent walked to the grand entrance to see the couple leave. The prince and the dukes threw rose petals, silver horseshoes, silver boots and silver true-lovers' knots into the carriage as it passed out of the palace gates.

The immense crowd cheered again and again and cried, "Good luck!"

The 35-year-old duke and his 33-year-old bride had their first moment to themselves when they stepped into the flower-filled royal coach of the "Silver Jubilee" train which took them to Kettering. From there they continued by automobile to Broughton Hall.

Lady Alice, dressed in pearls, shades satin, and the 35-year-old duke, resplendent in the gold-faded blue tunic, scarlet breeches and black-topped boots of the Tenth Hussars, were pronounced man and wife by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

With the plighting of this troth, the Prince of Wales became the royal family's only bachelor.

This second royal wedding within a year—a ceremony stripped of pageantry because of the recent death of the bride's father, the Duke of Buccleuch—was in somewhat sombre contrast to the brilliant marriage last November of the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina.

MAKES PLEA FOR CO-OPERATION IN NEW SOCIAL PLAN

Calgary.—A plea for co-operation in the institution of Alberta's new social order and for constructive criticism only of the provincial department of education was voiced by Premier Aberhart here when he addressed more than 600 southern Alberta high and public school teachers.

Mr. Aberhart, also minister of education, told the teachers the main problem facing members of their profession to-day was adapting themselves to their community in such a way as to take a greater share in the progress of the community.

"If teachers do not see how they fit into the new plan, they will be 'back numbers in five years,'" the premier said. "If you do co-operate, you will become necessary to the government of the province we will be unable to get along without you."

"This is the teachers' opportunity," he continued. "You should put your shoulders to the wheel in the new movement." The premier outlined the predominance of various occupational groups during different periods of history.

He told the teachers they were in charge of the province's greatest asset—youth, the rising generation—and must put educational work at the top of the list of reforms.

The main difficulties facing the government in instituting a better educational system were economic and financial, he declared. Problems before both the government and teachers were maintenance of minimum salaries, provision of pensions, security of tenure and curriculum reform.

Mr. Aberhart said there was more than $300,000 back salary owing to teachers throughout the province.

"Newspaper talk" about cosmetics on government stenographers was unfounded, he asserted.

World Wheat Crop

Said To Be Lowest Production Since 1929

Rome.—World wheat production this year is the lowest since 1924 with only the Soviet Union having a bumper crop, the International Institute of Agriculture announced.

Production in 1935 is estimated at 1,000,000,000 quintals, or four per cent. greater than in 1934, the lowest increase since the war. Exportable wheat for the season of 1935-36 is 25,000,000 quintals (a quintal is 3,671 bushels) less than in 1934-35 season and the lowest in the past 10 years.

Exportable wheat this year will total 218,000,000 quintals, of which 100,000,000 remain from previous years.

World imports for 1935-36 are estimated at 147,000,000 quintals compared to 144,000,000 in 1934-35. The 1935 export surplus of 118,000,000 quintals is believed insufficient to cover probable demands of importers. The 100,000,000 quintal carryover at the beginning of this year has already been reduced and experts predict it will be reduced further.

Remember Canadian Corps

Trappist Monks Of Belgium Donate Wealth For Cenotaph

Ottawa.—For the first time since the war there was a renewal in Ottawa of the association between the ancient Trappist monastery of Mont des Cats, in Belgium, and the Canadian corps when on Remembrance Day a wreath was deposited on the cenotaph here by Maurice Olivier, of Ottawa, for, and on behalf of that institution.

Mont des Cats, a towering ridge which overlooked the plain of Flanders, was well known to Canadian soldiers, many of whom were treated in their last days of convalescence in the ancient monastery.

History Of Railway

Montreal.—History of the Canadian Pacific Railway in pictures is being told in Windsor station on the 50th anniversary of the completion of the first trans-continental line on Canadian soil. Some 300 pictures, embracing all the highlights of the company's history-making activities in Canada in the past half-century, have been secured from many sources.

A tribute to the press that might well be heeded by all, political lead-

Maritime Baptist: The American
Methodist bishop, Dr. John M. Moore, makes this significant observation:
"Preaching through the press is a necessity today. Methodism can only hold by the press what she wins by the pulpit. The pulpit is severely handicapped without the support of a virile religious press."
